

Focus on Universities – Ehrfeld lecture from Dr. Andrea Henseler and Anne Kaaden at ETH Zürich

The ETH Zürich, Institute of Food, Nutrition and Health IFNH, invited us for giving a lecture on the 29th of November from 10.00-12.00 am.

Topics will be predominantly scientific, like surface to volume ratio and differentiation, thermal distribution and mixing. Of course, everybody is very welcome to participate! As well a running MMRS system will be presented and you will also have the possibility to disassemble some of the modules to have a closer look at the interiority.
